

FOR CHANGE

Celebrating UK Design Research Excellence
Design Research for Change is a showcase of 67 Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC) funded design research projects. The projects traverse literary, ethnographic, geographical, and digital frontiers. The work showcased here is led by researchers and practitioners from across the UK, including product designers, business strategists, architects, and artists. Each project illustrates the economic, social, and cultural impact of design research. A limited edition of the book is available for purchase.

2011 2012 2013 2014 2015 2016 2017 2018

ARCTIC TOURISM

DESIGN RESEARCH FOR CHANGE

Leading UK Design Research Institute
The Design Research Institute (DRI) is a leading UK Design Research Institute. It is a not-for-profit organisation that works in partnership with the design industry to help organisations understand their customers better and create products and services that meet their needs. DRI is a member of the Design Council and the Design Research Society.

2009
2010
2011
2012
2013

A large wall display featuring a grid of small images and text, organized by year from 2009 to 2013. The images appear to be photographs of various design projects and research activities. The text is interspersed among the images, providing context for the visual content.

